

World Bee Day Celebration:

The University enthusiastically celebrates World Bee Day, extending the festivities beyond its campus boundaries to welcome the general public. This annual event underscores the university's commitment to environmental stewardship and biodiversity conservation. Attendees, comprising students, faculty, and the wider community, engage in interactive sessions and workshops that highlight the crucial role of bees in pollination and ecological balance. On May 20, 2022, the Department of Entomology at the Faculty of Agriculture, University of Poonch Rawalakot, marked World Bee Day by organizing a walk to underscore the significance of this occasion.
