

Childcare Policy for Faculty, Staff and Students

The term "childcare" or "daycare" refers to the provision of care for children, particularly while parents are at work. Such facilities are particularly associated with the mother's place of work. The University of Poonch Rawalakot has a well-managed Childcare facility for its academics, staff and students. Children from nine months to six years old are cared throughout the day at daycare center so that their parents may work, and female students can focus on their studies. The daycare facility operates during UPR office hours and has a selection of toys for kids.
