

TRACKING UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS APPLICATIONS

University of Poonch Rawalakot systematically tracks students' applications of underrepresented groups (including low-income students, women, disabled students, newly settled refugee students). In 2020, there were 1739 total number of students and out of which 1356 students were tracked as low-income students, 942 were women students, 06 were newly settled refugees and 04 were disabled students. In 2021, there were 1419 total number of students and out of which 1106 students were tracked as low-income students, 838 were women students, 08 were newly settled refugees and 07 were disabled students. In 2022, there were 1632 total number of students and out of which 1272 students were tracked as low-income students, 898 were women students, 11 were newly settled refugees and 12 were disabled students. Similarly, in 2023, there were 2031 total number of students and out of which 1667 students were tracked as low-income students, 1251 were women students, 10 were newly settled refugees and 13 were disabled students (Table 1).

Table 1: Tracking of underrepresented groups applications.

Sr. No.	Underrepresented groups	Number of students
		2020	2021	2022	2023
1.	Low-income students	1356	1106	1272	1667
2.	Women students	942	838	898	1251
3.	Newly settled refugee students	06	08	11	10
4.	Disabled students	04	07	12	13
Total number of students		1739	1419	1632	2031