

The University of Poonch Rawalakot (UPR) offers comprehensive counseling and mentoring initiatives to support students, providing career guidance, regular academic advice, and assistance for those facing financial difficulties, particularly from low-income families. To maintain eligibility for financial aid, students must uphold a minimum CGPA of 3.00. This integrated approach of financial support and mentoring motivates recipients to successfully complete their degrees. In 2028, over 90% of students who received financial assistance graduated. Additionally, UPR's counseling services are designed to help students achieve timely graduation and program completion.

1. UPR Support and Guidance Center

Students at UPR can access guidance and support through the Student Career Counseling Center, operated under the Directorate of Student Affairs. The Center provides both individual and group counseling with a focus on maintaining confidentiality. Each department has a student counseling committee dedicated to guiding students on relevant matters. These sessions address a range of personal, academic, and family-related concerns. Furthermore, psychological diagnostic services, including intelligence and personality assessments, are offered by the Department of Psychology within the Faculty of Management, Humanities, and Social Sciences. These services are free of charge and available to students, faculty, and alumni.

The University of Poonch Rawalakot (UPR) organized a student counseling seminar aimed at Khan Muhammad Khan Postgraduate College Palandri, AJK providing guidance and support to students in various academic, personal, and career-related matters. Faculty members and experts delivered informative sessions, addressing students' concerns and offering strategies for effective academic planning and personal development. The seminar emphasized the importance of counseling in fostering student well-being, improving decision-making, and achieving academic success. The interactive session allowed students to engage with counselors, ask questions, and gain valuable insights for their educational and professional journeys.

2. Dedicated Scholarships for Deserving Students:

The University of Poonch Rawalakot (UPR) prioritizes supporting students from low-income households to achieve their graduation goals. To assist financially needy students, UPR offers dedicated scholarships such as the Ehsaas Scholarship, Sudhan Education Foundation Scholarship, PEEF scholarships and Need-Based Scholarships. Eligibility for these scholarships is determined by family income, with students qualifying if their monthly household income is below PKR 45,000 (approximately USD 157)
